

Facets of Joy

Sharing Transformational Magic
to magnify your inner brilliance

Thank you for choosing to share energy through this meetup event!

My Motivation for a “Facets of Joy” meetup:

I host “Facets of Joy” online through which I write inspirational reflections; provide email, telephone, and Skype clarity sessions; write a weekly subscription “Transformational Magic” letter. I have created a vibrant online community.

I want to experience the same connection--transparent, refreshing, positive energy, encouraging--offline, so my purpose is to create that community. This is one step. The response has been amazing so far.

My reflection to you then is: appreciation for your presence here and if you want something, you always have the option to create it.

Introduction and share: If you share your name, why you chose to participate today, and the best part of your day.

Conversation on heart space and intent

Ten Minute Energy Session Demonstration

Raffle: As I mentioned, I offer online email clarity sessions and a transformational magic letter. The winner of the raffle may choose which you would like to receive: a one month email clarity session, a six month transformational magic letter subscription, or a one hour energy session. Please sign your name, your email, and which prize you would like to receive.

Group Photo

Wrap Up: As our feelings surface, we often discard them. Within my personal daily practices, as my feelings surface I invite them to have space, and I allow them to be. In such a way, I am not afraid to be delighted/surprised/overjoyed...neither am I afraid to be in fear or sadness or emotional pain. Over time each feeling has become so familiar to me, because I allow them to be. And no feeling is right/wrong...difficult/easy...each feeling is exactly what it is. May you share one word to describe how you feel in this moment.

Invitation to write in group book

